Term 2

PREFACE

The English textbook for standard VII has been prepared following the guidelines given in the National Curriculum Framework, 2005. It has been created to make English language learning, both effective and enjoyable. The aim has been to balance learning the structures and vocabulary of the language, with learning their use, in everyday life.

The activities have been graded carefully to allow a gradual building of language proficiency. The lessons provide effective individual and collaborative learning in pairs and groups and enable differentiation in multilevel classrooms. Each unit focuses on the themes of natural and social world to stimulate curiosity and imagination, engaging both heart and mind. An ICT Corner has been introduced in each unit for the first time in a State Board Text Book to develop current digital literacy skills.

How to use the book

- The Third Term English Book for Standard VII has two units and one play.
- Each unit is planned for a month.
- First two units are divided into sections and the third one is combined as it's a speech. Each section is designed to initiate and sustain the Active Learning process.

Warm Up

Look at the pictures. Name the activities.

Discuss and Answer

- The pictorial warm up page will help activate students own knowledge and ideas of the topic.
- The digital warm up can be used for visualizing the theme to motivate and interest learners.

- In-Text questions in each section can be used for discussion and to check and develop comprehension skills.
- Digital glossary can be used to listen to correct pronunciation and visualise words.
- The 'Do You Know?' box can be used to enhance general knowledge while initiating spoken language.

- ✓ The illustrations in Picto Grammar will make understanding of grammar easy.
- ✓ Digital Grammar Games can be used to reinforce learning to encourage students to play and learn easily.
- ✓ Language Check Point can highlight points of usage to avoid the common mistakes.

PICTO GRAMMAR

Can you jump _____ (high) than me?
 Yes! Because this building is not high!

Which is _____ (important) to us, the Sun or the Moon?
 The Moon.
 Why?
 The moon gives us light at night when the Sun is not there. The Sun gives light during the day when we don't need it.

CREATIVE WRITING

Concrete Poems

Concrete poems are made up of words that have been placed in such a way that they make the shape of an object and also use words to describe the object:

Start by making a simple outline of the shape or object (an animal, a football, a fruit etc.) large enough to fit a piece of paper.

Then, brainstrom a minimum of ten words and phrases that describe the shape. List action and feeling words as well.

Next, place a piece of paper over the shape and decide where your words are going to be placed so that they outline your shape but also tell a well together.

Separate words and phrases with commas.

- ✓ Students can be taken through all the steps of writing with the help of pictures and prompts.
- ✓ Creative writing can be used to bring out their imaginative skill.
- ✓ Students can be encouraged to present or display their writings in the class.

- ✓ The warm up picture given at the beginning of each section can be used to discuss the theme of the poem.
- ✓ The focus should be on the enjoyment of the poem through exploring imaginary skills & rhythm.
- ✓ The supplementary section encourages extensive reading and appreciation of literature.

Listen to the teacher read this section.

The young man flung the hammer and the chisel to the ground and cried, "I'm

CONNECTING TO SELF

Tackling the Issues

Ask the class to discuss solutions to an issue that plagues contemporary society at large or just your community—for example, homelessness, violence, environmental degradation, hunger.

Half the class should mention idealistic solutions to the chosen issue; the other half should mention only realistic approaches to solving the problem.

See if, in listening to both sides, someone can come up with a proposal that is both realistic and unconventional—an idea that hasn't been tried yet.

- ✓ Connecting to Self is based on the values of each lesson.
- ✓ Project is meant for working in groups and to develop collaborative learning.
- ✓ The development of higher order thinking skills is facilitated by the Steps to Success.

- ✓ Students can be encouraged to extend their reading activity through learning links section.
- ✓ Students can be helped to download the games and install them.
- ✓ The activities in ICT Corner will ensure learning language skills through websites and app links.

ICT CORNER

GRAMMAR – DEGREES OF COMPARISON

- ★ To learn and practise the three forms of adjectives.
- ★ To know and practise about the rules while comparing the adjectives.

Steps

1. Type the URL link given below in the browser or scan the QR code.
2. You can see the home page of the interactive game of Adjectives.

Learning Outcomes

- ❖ Promotes reading and vocabulary skills.
- ❖ Promotes use of higher-level thinking skills.
- ❖ Promotes creative writing
- ❖ Develops drawing skill
- ❖ Encourages to create comic strips
- ❖ Helps to visualise things
- ❖ Listen to the teacher reading out the material and gathers information from it.
- ❖ Read aloud the stories and recites poems with appropriate pause, inflection and pronunciation.
- ❖ Answers questions orally and in writing after reading the text.
- ❖ Thinks critically, compares and contrasts character, enters, ideas, themes and relates them to life.
- ❖ Shares his / her experiences on his / her visit to art exhibition in writing.
- ❖ Summarize orally and in writing the given text.
- ❖ Locates details, sequence of ideas and identify the main idea.
- ❖ Understands the rules of grammar through a variety of situations and pictures and uses them in real life situations.
- ❖ Infers the meaning of unfamiliar words by reading there in context.
- ❖ Refers dictionary the source to find meaning of new words while reading and writing.

Warm Up

My Hand of Imagination

1. Trace around your hand on a white paper.
2. Make list of your five choices.
3. Draw a picture to indicate what would your finger becomes.
4. Erase one to finger at a time and draw your choice in it's place.
5. Write and share in the class.

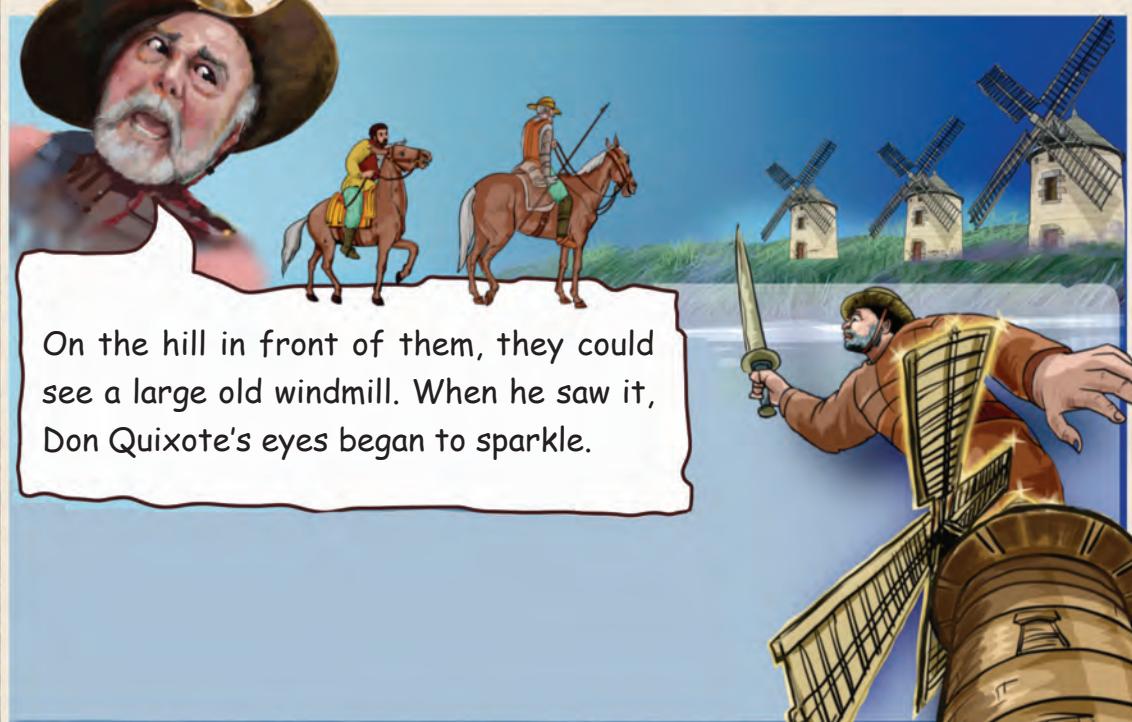

Adventures of Don Quixote

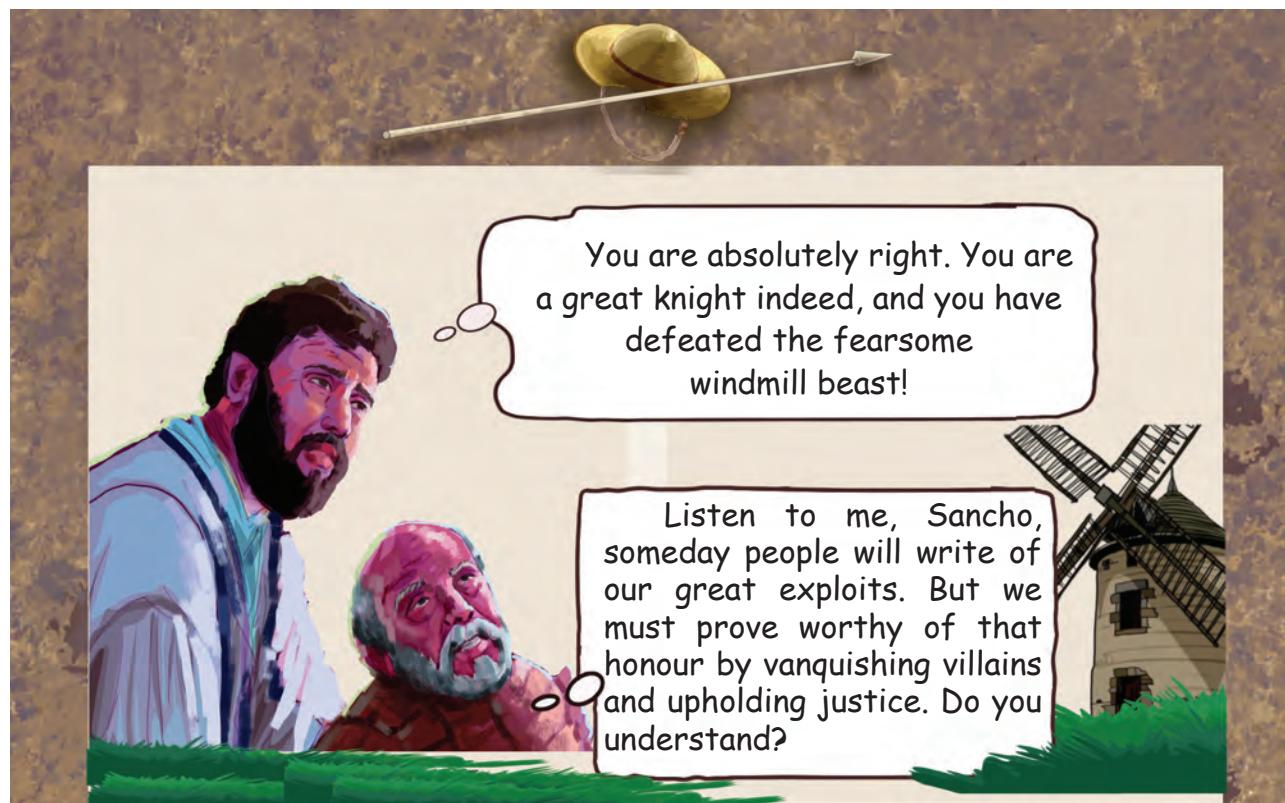

Once upon a time, in a village called La Mancha, in Spain, there lived a man who loved to read about knights. Every day he would read about courageous knights and the incredible adventures they had. He was so absorbed in these stories that he hardly remembered to eat or sleep. The days of Knight and Squires, of exciting adventures and romances come alive in the hilarious account of Don Quixote's travels. As years passed, Don Quixote imagines himself placed in the world of knights. He convinces Sancho Panza, a peasant from the same village, to be his squire.

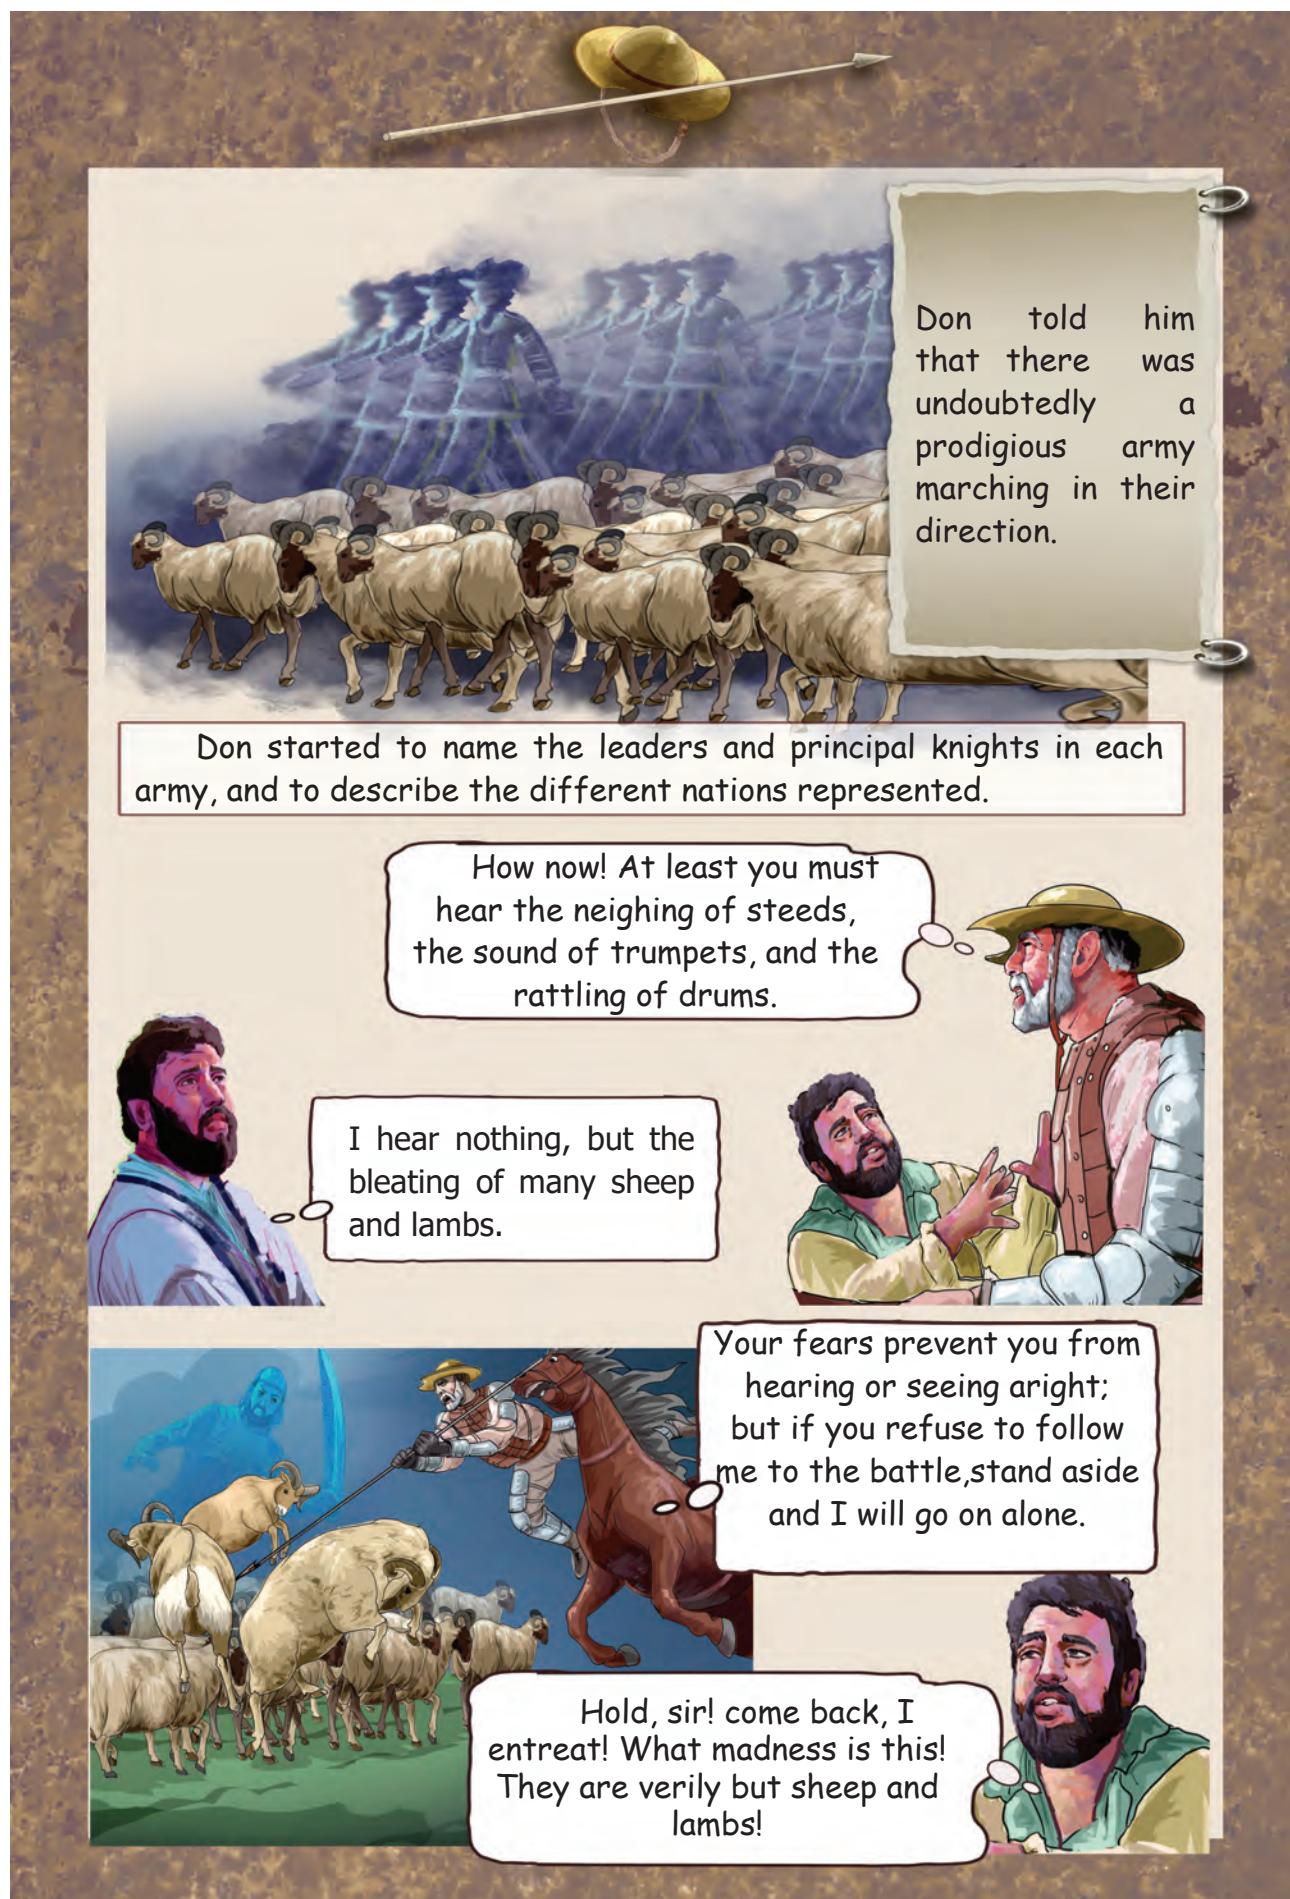

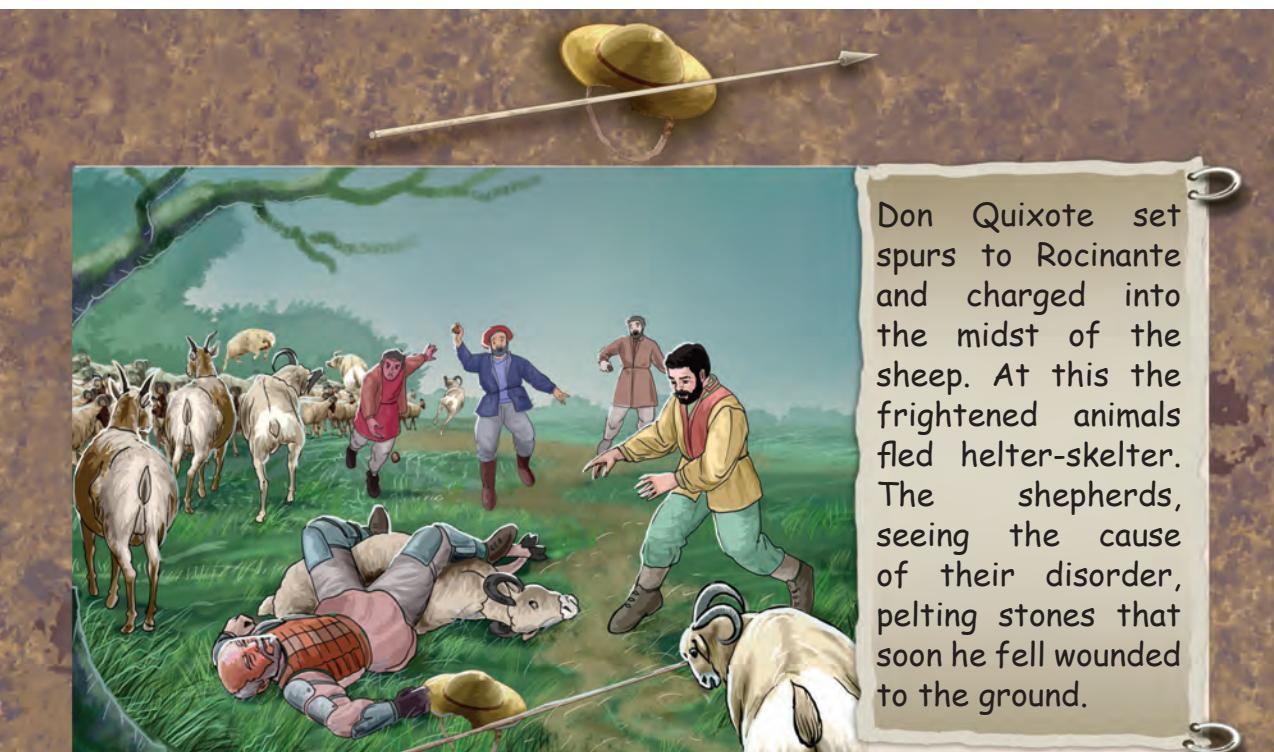

In fact, the windmill was working perfectly fine. Sancho did his best to dissuade Don Quixote from attempting anything else reckless.

Don Quixote set spurs to Rocinante and charged into the midst of the sheep. At this the frightened animals fled helter-skelter. The shepherds, seeing the cause of their disorder, pelting stones that soon he fell wounded to the ground.

The local peasants all thought Don Quixote was crazy. They laughed and taunted as he passed.

Don Quixote did not understand and thought the people were cheering for him.

Returned to his estate Don Quixote realized that all his adventures were simply a product of his imagination. Don Quixote never embarrassed himself further by going on any more quests.

But his house would always be full of children to whom he would tell the most fantastic stories about Knights, Squires and Noble quests and all lived happily together going on many more adventures in their imagination.

GLOSSARY

knight	-	a man who served his lord as a mounted soldier in armour.
incredible	-	unbelievable
hilarious	-	amusing, entertaining
ogre	-	monster, giant
combat	-	fighting between armed forces
prodigious	-	impressively great in extent
steed	-	horse that is ridden
spur	-	a device with a small spike or a spiked wheel that is worn on a rider's heel and used for urging a horse forward.

READ AND UNDERSTAND

Answer the following questions.

1. What kinds of books did Don Quixote like to read? What were those books like?
2. What effect do the things Don Quixote reads have on him?
3. Why didn't Don Quixote believe Sancho Panza when Sancho told him the ogres were actually windmills?
4. Why do you think Sancho continued to journey on with Don Quixote after the windmill incident?
5. When Don Quixote sees the cloud of dust on the plain in the distance, what does he think causes it?
6. Sancho sees two clouds of dust, leading him to conclude that there are two armies. What does Don Quixote think will happen next?
7. What is the reaction of the shepherds when they see that Don Quixote is attacking their sheep?

Think and Do

1. Most people associate windmills with Holland, rather than Spain. Use the encyclopaedia and any other sources you might have to find out more about windmills and their traditional and modern uses. Then, make a model of a windmill to display with the results of your research.

2. Draw a design of a boat that skims trash off the surface of a river, lake, or ocean. Label the parts and give your invention a catchy name.

- ★ What kind of vessel could do the job?
- ★ What parts would it have?
- ★ How would it move?
- ★ How could it tell the difference between trash and other objects, such as animals and seaweed?
- ★ How would it store and dump the trash?
- ★ Could your machine double as a beach sweeper, sifting trash from sand?

Discuss and Answer

To Dream the Impossible Dream

Don Quixote might be seen as not simply crazy in his refusal to see things as they really are but more like a person who wants to accomplish a greater good and so refuses to compromise his ideals. Examples of such people include Nelson Mandela, Mahatma Gandhi, and Martin Luther King Jr.

Discuss (with examples and other evidence) whether or not they think Quixote deserves to be put in the company of real-world idealists or is merely delusional.

VOCABULARY

Homophones are two words that are spelled differently but have the same sound.

A. Explain the difference between these words by making sentences. One is done for you.

- | | |

SPEAKING

E. Read the conversation of the simple machines. Take roles to play. Then discuss in pairs to describe any simple machine. Create your own story board and take roles to play.

Jack : Don't you know how simple machines make your life easy?

Jimmy : Um... I don't know what simple machines are.

* Text for listening is in page number : 136

Jack : Simple machines are mechanical devices for applying force like a wedge or ramp.

Jimmy : Oh! wow! How I did not know this!

Jack : Like the wheels on hospital bed and IV pole. They help you move people faster by reducing the friction.

Jimmy : Is the stick over there that the TV is attached to, is that a simple machine too?

Jack : Yes it is, it's a lever. The wheels on the bus are simple machines, they make the bus move.

Jimmy : What about the doors?

Jack : 'Yeah' the driver pulls a lever and the doors open and you climb up the inclined plane aka the stairs. The cable in the elevator is wrapped around a groove in the wheel and axle, an electric motor pulls the cable, lifting the car between floors.

Jimmy : So the wheels on the rolling chair are too by rolling the chair back instead of lifting the chair back.

Jack : 'Yes' they are, they move the chair and reduce the friction.

F. Ask the students to tell a story. It may be a true story or an imaginative story. Choose one of the titles from the following.

- ❖ A time I was very late.
- ❖ A funny story about my friend.
- ❖ I met someone very interesting.
- ❖ An unusual event.
- ❖ A funny story about my life.

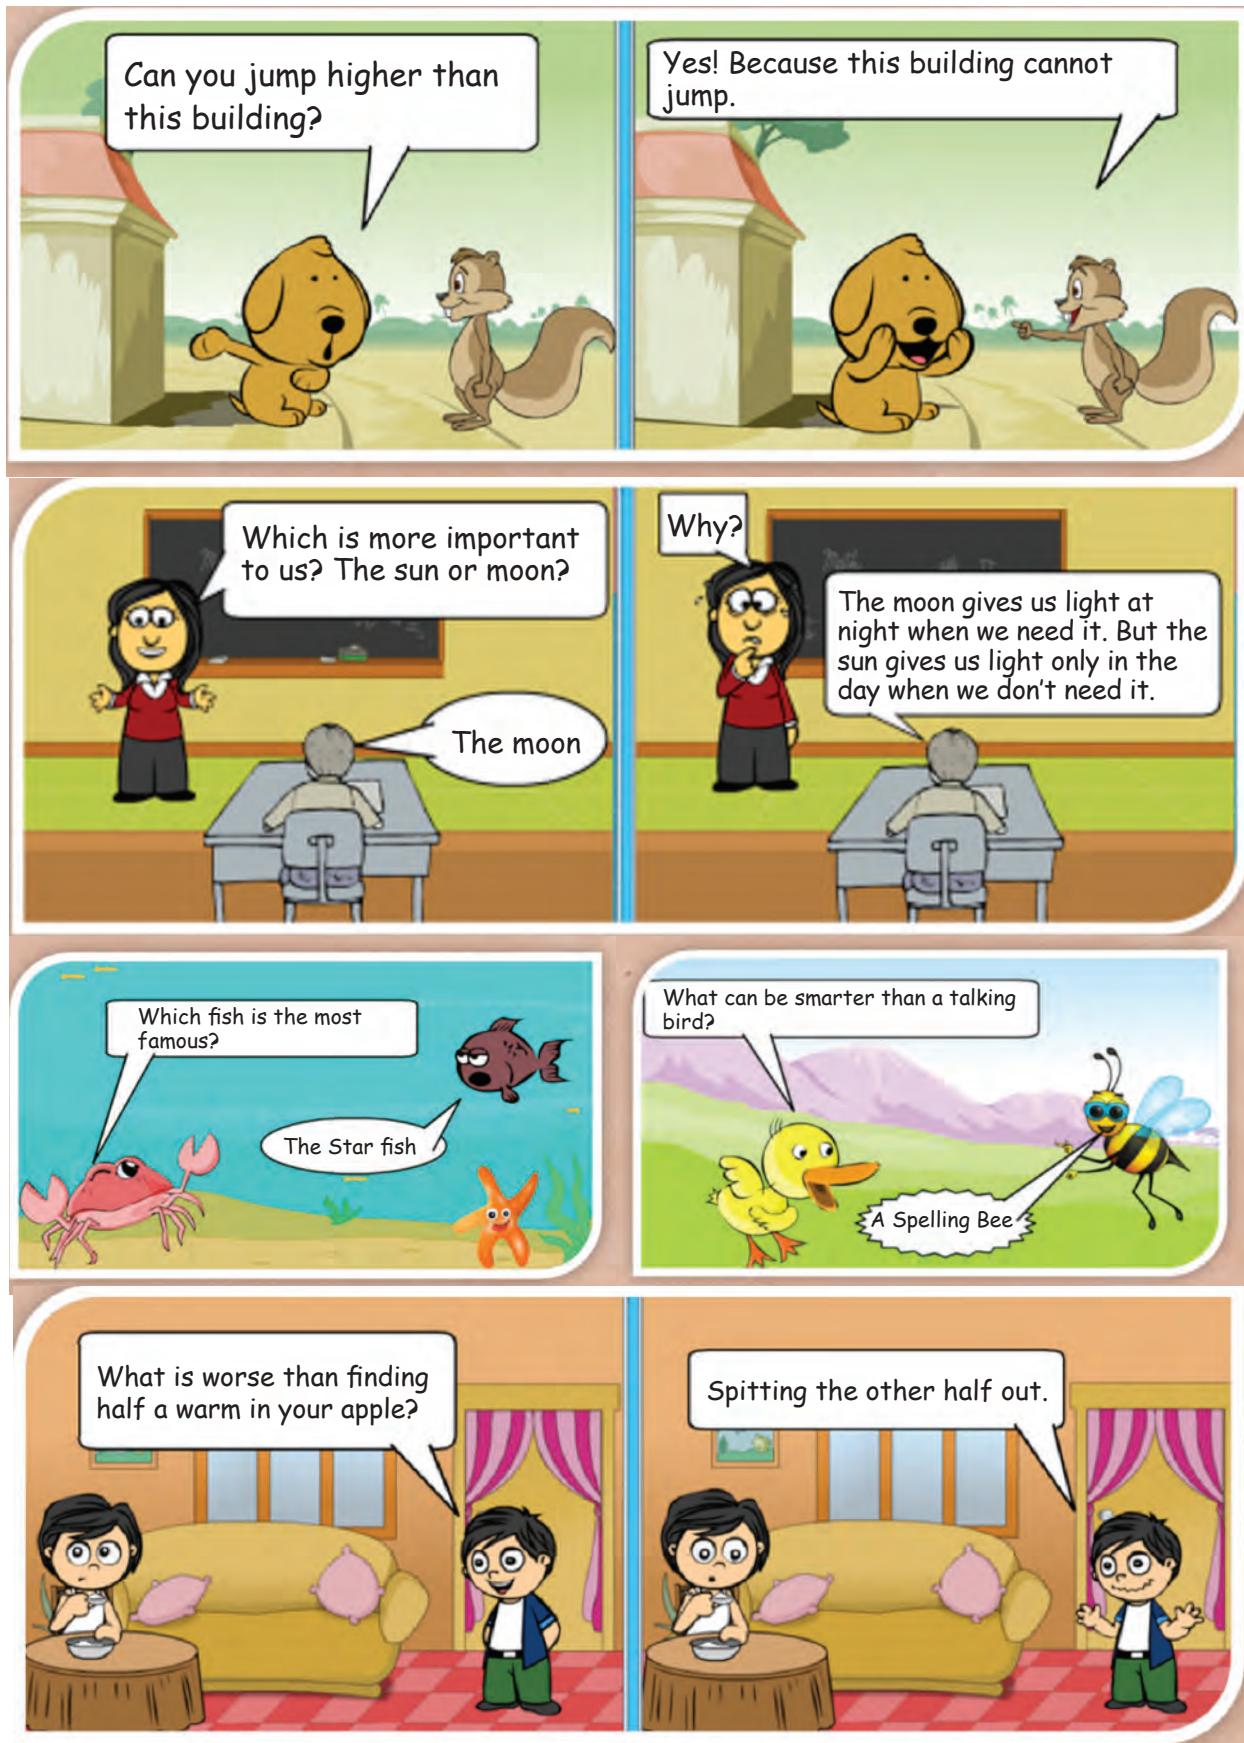

Think about your story

- ❖ When did it happen?
- ❖ Where were you?
- ❖ Who was there?
- ❖ What happened?

	6. Diamonds are the ----- material in the world.
	7. The cheetah is the ----- animal in the world.

H. Put students in pairs and tell them to interview their partner. To do this they must make questions, e.g. What's the worst storm you've ever seen? They can also ask follow-up questions to find out more information. Do feedback on this as a whole class. Other thematic questionnaires of this kind could be:

Emotional experiences

- ❖ The most frightened I've ever been ...
- ❖ The happiest moment I've ever had ...
- ❖ The most nervous I've ever been ...

Musical experiences

- ❖ The best song I've ever heard ...
- ❖ The worst song I've ever heard ...

J. Local Historians

- ❖ Ask students to collect stories about their town from older people.
- ❖ Ask them to find out how the streets were named.
- ❖ Are there any interesting people or legends to which the street names refer?
- ❖ Are there any local places in town about which people tell stories?
- ❖ Any haunted houses?
- ❖ Let students find out when the town was founded and by whom.
- ❖ Visit a local historical society to see old photographs or artefacts.

Let students create an original historical fiction:

Describe the town from the point of view of a fictitious citizen who might have lived in the town long ago. Include local issues of the time in the story. Write the story of the town from the fictionalized point of view of a resident who actually lived.

Warm Up

Look at the pictures. Name the activities.

Discuss and Answer.

1. What are the adventure activities of NCC?
2. When can you join the NCC?
3. What is the motto of NCC?

Think and Answer.

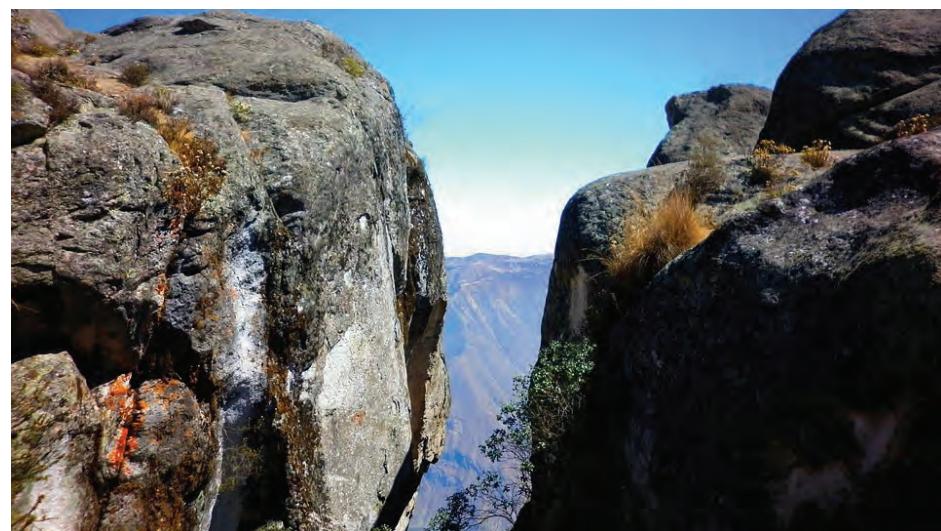

1. Why do we need adventure in life?

2. Do you like adventures? Why?

3. Why does the NCC conduct adventure activities?

Deep inside the mountain
the adventures hide themselves.
They are of all forms and shapes.
They all have an excellent ending, because those that live their lives in adventure
see the world in an extraordinary special way.

To attract the adventures into the patterns of habit you only need to close your eyes and ask them to embrace you.
You can also imagine that you are transparent and feel the wind stream through you instead of going against you.
Or imagine there are tiny little wings on your back and every time you take a new step you bounce a bit.

Maybe life itself is one big adventure if only you have the correct shades on.

Concrete Poems

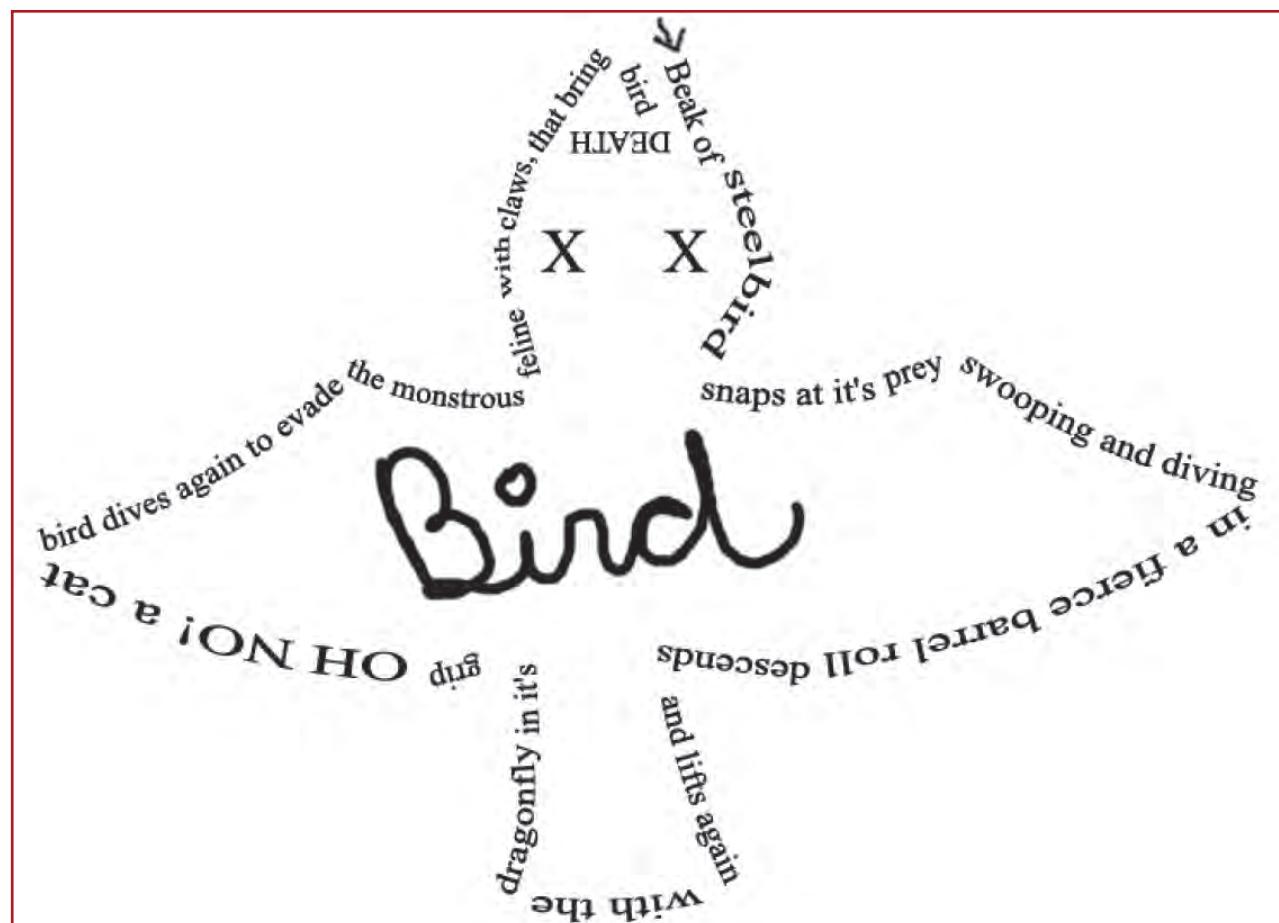

Concrete poems are made up of words that have been placed in such a way that they make the shape of an object and also use words to describe the object.

Start by making a simple outline of the shape or object (an animal, a football, a fruit etc.) large enough to fill a piece of paper.

Then brainstorm a minimum of ten words and phrases that describe the shape. List action and feeling words as well.

Next, place a piece of paper over the shape and decide where your words are going to be placed so that they outline your shape but also fit well together.

Separate words and phrases with commas.

E. Now read the poem and pick out the nouns. Then write your own concrete poem.

Alice in Wonderland

Supplementary

Alice was beginning to get very tired of sitting by her sister on the bank, and of having nothing to do: once or twice she had peeped into the book her sister was reading, but it had no pictures or conversations in it, 'and what is the use of a book,' thought Alice 'without pictures or conversation?' So, she was considering in her own mind (as well as she could, for the hot day made her feel very sleepy and stupid), whether the pleasure of making a daisy-chain would be worth the trouble of getting up and picking the daisies, when suddenly a White Rabbit with pink eyes ran close by her.

The Rabbit pulled a watch out of his pocket to check the time. He shook his head, then disappeared down a rabbit's hole. "I must find out why he's in such a hurry!" cried Alice. Filled with curiosity, she ran to the rabbit's hole and peeped through the entrance. The hole dropped suddenly and Alice fell.

She fell for a long time when suddenly she came upon a little three-legged table, all made of solid glass. There was nothing on it except a tiny golden key.

When she looked around again, she came upon a low curtain she had not noticed before, and behind it was a little door about fifteen inches high. She tried the little golden key in the lock, and to her great delight it fitted! She opened the door and saw a beautiful garden through it, but she couldn't reach it as she was too big.

When she turned around towards the three-legged table, Alice found a green bottle that said "DRINK ME" magically appeared on it. Out of curiosity, Alice took the bottle and drank the entire potion. Then, she began to shrink until she was no bigger than a doll.

She opened the door and quickly ran through it. "What a splendid garden!" she exclaimed. "Why, I'm no bigger than the insects that crawl on these flowers." But the excitement soon wore off. Alice grew bored with her tiny size. "I want to be big again," she shouted. Her shouts startled the White Rabbit, who ran past her again. Mistaking her for his maid, he ordered, "Go to my cottage and fetch my gloves and fan." Alice was confused by the Rabbit's behaviour. "Maybe I'll find something at the cottage to help me find my way out," she said hopefully.

As she was going out, she saw a piece of chocolate cake that was kept on a table by the doorway. Next to the cake was a note that read "EAT ME". "I'm so hungry," Alice said as she ate the cake. Suddenly she felt strange and realized - "Oh no! I've grown larger than this house!" she cried.

"Get out of my way! You're blocking the door!" shouted the White Rabbit. Alice managed to pick up his fan. Immediately, she began to shrink. But little did she know, it was a magical fan, which made her small again. "Oh no, I'll never get back to the right size," she went looking for help.

Soon, she saw a green caterpillar dressed in a pink jacket. He was sitting on the top of a large mushroom, smoking a bubble pipe. "One side makes you big, the other side makes you small," he said to Alice before slithering away. "One side of what?" Alice called after him. "The mushroom, silly," he answered. Alice ate a piece of the mushroom. "Thank goodness, I'm growing!" she cried, "But which way do I go?"

"That path leads to the Mad Hatter. The other way leads to - Lae March Hare," said a voice. Alice turned to find a smiling Cheshire Cat in a tree. "I'll see you later at the Queen's croquet game," he said before disappearing.

There was a table set out under a tree in front of the house, and the March Hare and the Hatter were having tea at it: A Dormouse was sitting between them, fast asleep, and the other two were using it as a cushion, resting their elbows on it, and talking over its head. 'Very uncomfortable for the Dormouse,' thought Alice; 'only, as it's asleep, I suppose it doesn't mind.' The table was a large one, but the three were all crowded together at one corner of it: 'No room! No room!' they cried out when they saw Alice coming. 'There's PLENTY of room!' said Alice indignantly, and she sat down in a large arm-chair at one end of the table. 'Have some wine,' the March Hare said in an encouraging tone. Alice looked all round the table, but there was nothing on it but tea. 'I don't see any wine,' she remarked. 'There isn't any,' said the March Hare. 'Then it wasn't very civil of you to offer it,' said Alice angrily. 'It wasn't very civil of you to sit down without being invited,' said the March Hare. 'I didn't know it was YOUR table,' said Alice; 'it's laid for a great many more than three.' "You may stay if you answer my riddle." shouted the Mad Hatter. "Why is a raven like a writing desk?" Alice felt dreadfully puzzled. The Hatter's riddle seemed to have no sort of meaning in it, and yet it was certainly English. 'I don't quite understand you,' she said, as politely as she could. 'Have you guessed the riddle yet?' the Hatter said. 'No, I give up,' Alice replied: 'what's the answer?' 'I haven't the slightest idea,' said the Hatter. 'Nor I,' said the March Hare. Alice sighed wearily. 'I think you might do something better with the time,' she said, 'than waste it in asking riddles that have no answers.' And she continued her walk.

Suddenly she found herself in the middle of a field where the Queen of Hearts was playing croquet. Her guards and gardeners were shaped like cards. One gardener had planted white roses by mistake and then painted them red, "Off with their heads!" shrieked the Queen. "I hate white roses!"

Then she noticed Alice and asked her "Have you ever played croquet?" "Yes," Alice timidly answered. "But I've never used a flamingo or a hedgehog." "Play with me!" ordered the Queen. "And let me win or I'll have your head!" Alice tried her best to play well, but she had trouble with her flamingo. "Off with her head!" cried the Queen. Just then a trumpet sounded in the distance calling court to session.

Everyone rushed into the courtroom. "Court is now in session," announced the White Rabbit, "Will Alice please come to the stand?" Alice took the stand and looked at the jury box, where the March Hare and the Mad Hatter were making noise. The Dormouse slept and the Cheshire Cat smiled at her. "What's going on?" asked Alice. "You are guilty of stealing the delicious heart-shaped tarts!" accused the Queen, "And now you must be punished. Off with her head. Off with her head!" yelled the Queen. "How silly," replied Alice. "I did not have the slightest idea what you were talking about! I was only playing croquet."

Alice felt someone touch her shoulder, "Wake up. You've been sleeping for too long," said her sister softly. "I had a strange dream," said Alice. She told her sister about the White Rabbit, the mad tea party, the Queen of Hearts and the trial. But her sister wasn't paying attention. "You're reading again," mumbled Alice. As she stretched, Alice saw a little White Rabbit with pink eyes scurry behind a tree.

READ AND UNDERSTAND

A. Identify the character / speaker.

1. I must find out why he's in such a hurry!
2. Go to my cottage and fetch my gloves and fan.
3. Oh no, I'll never get back to the right size.
4. One side makes you big, the other side makes you small.
5. I'll see you later at the Queen's croquet game.
6. You may stay if you answer my riddle.
7. Wake up. You've been sleeping for too long.

B. Discuss and Answer.

1. Why did Alice follow the rabbit?
2. Do you think this was a good idea?
3. Why can't Alice get through the little door into the garden?
4. Why does Alice drink from the bottle that says 'DRINK ME' and why does she eat from the cake that says 'EAT ME'?
5. How does Alice feel after all these changes?
6. What do you think is going to happen next?

C. Think and Answer.

1. What challenges does Alice face and how does she overcome them?
2. Have you ever had a strange dream? Share your dream in the class.

D. Role play

Put students in pairs to role play a conversation between:

- ❖ Alice and her sister.
- ❖ Alice and White Rabbit.

E. Activity

It's fun to help out in the kitchen. You can even practice reading aloud when reading the recipe. And you can learn a little math by figuring out how to measure. Here are a few fun items to make that are "Alice" themed.

Rabbit Salad

In this recipe, you will create a salad shaped like a rabbit.

- ❖ Start by washing some lettuce leaves. You will be using them as the base for the salad. Spread the leaves on top of a plate.
- ❖ For the rabbit's body: You will need half of a fresh or canned pear. If you have a whole pear, cut it in half lengthwise. This will be the body you will decorate.
- ❖ To create the rabbit's nose: use a cherry or some red-coloured, dried fruit, like a cranberry. Place it in the middle of the narrow part of the pear.
- ❖ Now you can add the eyes. Take 2 raisins and put them just above the nose on the narrow part of the pear.
- ❖ Next, the rabbit will need its ears. Use 2 almonds or other nut of choice and stick them into the pear above the eyes.
- ❖ Lastly, all rabbits need a tail. Take a small piece of cauliflower and place it at the rear of the wide end of the pear half. For a sweeter version, use a mini marshmallow.

F. Learning About Nature

Learn about caterpillars and butterflies. Read a book about a caterpillar turning into a butterfly. You can get one from the library or go online and find information with pictures.

CONNECTING TO SELF

G. Tackling the Issues

Ask the class to discuss solutions to an issue that plagues contemporary society at large or just your community—for example, homelessness, violence, environmental degradation, hunger.

Half the class should mention idealistic solutions to the chosen issue; the other half should mention only realistic approaches to solving the problem.

See if, in listening to both sides, someone can come up with a proposal that is both realistic and unconventional—an idea that hasn't been tried yet.

H. Imagine you are a marketing executive for a company in a specific industry (toothpaste, soup, hair care products, automobiles, etc) and are developing a product with a brand name that refers to a character from the story.

For example: You want to sell bandages that have little pictures of Don Quixote on them. Your company's name is Kure-All and you decide to call them "Kure-All Quixote Bandages".

The slogan might be: "Had a tough day with windmills? When you take a fall, use Kure-All."

You can use exciting words, a catchy new slogan and a jingle among other things to promote sales of your item.

J. Look at the number pattern. Fill the blank in the middle of the series or end of the series.

Section I

READING

Listen to the teacher read this section.

The young man flung the hammer and the chisel to the ground and cried, "I'm leaving Father. I'm leaving you and this work. Look what it's brought us!"

He spread out his arms and glanced indifferently at the small, congested work room. The white washed walls were stained by many monsoons. The window, bare of curtains, opened into a tiny backyard.

"After all these years of work, this is all we have – nothing, nothing. This kind of work just doesn't pay!"

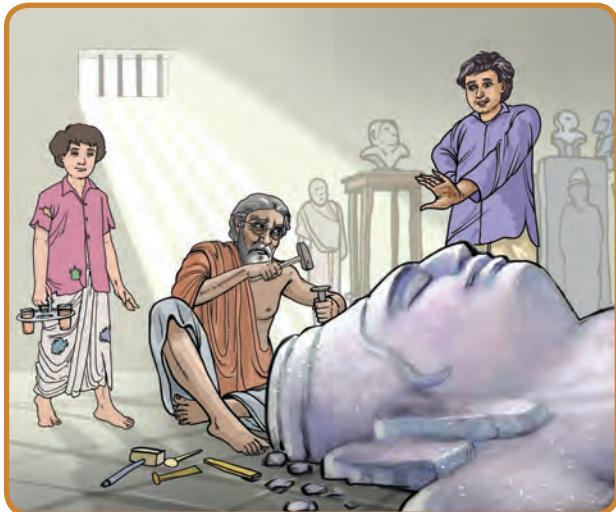

The old man stared at his son in surprise. Although his voice trembled, it didn't lose its usual gentleness. "It's not only the money that matters, son. It's the service, our service to God."

"Father," the young man grunted impatiently, "Times have changed. The stone carver's work has changed too. You can't live on sculptures for temples only. You have to mass produce, mass produce like all the others in Agra. Come on, Father! Wake up."

The lines around the man's mouth tightened. "No, my son. This is the work I learnt from my father. And he learned from his father. We have kept up this tradition for hundreds of years... and I hoped you would continue our work."

"No, Father", the young man replied with determination. "I'm tired of working for a pittance for the committee of the temple in Srinagar. I'm leaving, Father."

The young man moved angrily out of the room, leaving his old father crouching in front of a half-finished marble statue. He dropped his hands into his laps, and closed his eyes. He began to pray and didn't even hear the hesitant 'goodbye'. His son called out from the door.

"Masterjee!" called Salim, the servant boy, entering the workshop barefooted. He held out a glass of steaming tea in his hand. "Masterjee?", he asked once more, his voice filled with concern.

The old man looked up. His face was ashen. He looked tired. He called the boy to come closer and motioned him to sit down.

"Salim," he said gently, "Soon I will be the last stone carver here". All the others would have gone to Agra. There they are turning out cheap candlestands, paperweights and ashtrays by the dozen. They are making money but they betray our skill, our age-old tradition. Now Gopal has also gone. I'll have to finish this sculpture alone. And with the help of God, I'll do it, Salim. "I know you will, Masterjee," the boy answered. "You'll make many more."

The old man looked at the orphan boy who had come to work for him five years ago. Drenched to the skin, dressed in tatters, he had begged for shelter during monsoon storm. And had stayed on to work for the old master craftsman. He had grown tall and strong. The old man knew that Salim too would leave him one day.

He shook his head. "My strength is waning. I can't work with the chisel like I used to. Carving takes too long, much too long. Then he straightened up and said with fresh determination, "I'll have to finish this work. And surely I will."

"Yes, you will," the boy repeated offering his master the glass of tea. "Drink please.

It will do you good." Then he added, "I have to go to the market for an hour or two. But I'll be back in time to prepare dinner." The old man nodded. The old man sighed and picked up the chisel and hammer. The cool metal of the tools filled him with happiness and confidence. He loved his work and didn't want to change it for any other in the world.

Section II

Days and weeks went by. It was a month since Gopal had left. The old man worked tirelessly. It was all there, in the stone the strong, straight shoulders of Krishna, his soft curved hips, the pointed fingers holding the flute delicately to his lips, his serene face eternally beautiful – the old man could see it in the stone. He could feel it. He only had to set it free with the chisel.

He didn't feel hunger, he didn't feel thirst. He was driven by the strong desire to finish the sculpture in time. It was his biggest piece of work, his best. It would also be his last.

On and on he worked, his chisel striking the stone again and again. But then came the day when the old man felt his strength ebb. His shoulders began to ache, his arms felt heavy and his vision blurred. Overcome with fear, he sank to his knees and prayed. The old man prayed a lot these days.

"Masterjee," Salim said, "You haven't touched your food again. Please have some rice and vegetables. You only had a glass of milk for breakfast. Have the curd. You like curd, I know you do."

The old man looked up. He whispered, "I don't think I'll be able to finish it. If Gopal was here, it would be different. He hadn't yet learnt to carve the finer details but in a year or two he would have learnt surely."

He felt silent. "It was the features and hands that gave him trouble. There was something missing in his figures. That something which can't be taught."

"Because it comes from somewhere deep inside you," Salim whispered. "From deep inside here!" and he pointed to his heart.

The old man looked at the boy surprised. He saw him blush and turn his face away.

"You are right, Salim, you are right." And then he added with sudden bitterness, "And if you don't have it here," he thumped his chest, " Then you'd better go to Agra and mass produce ashtrays for tourists from abroad. Then..." The old man coughed painfully and reached for his glass of water.

"Eat, Masterjee, eat. Everything will be alright."

After he had eaten, the old man once again took up his hammer and chisel. He worked till late in the night. In the early hours of the morning the chisel fell from his hand and the hammer dropped to the ground. His old body sagged, falling forward limply. His forehead struck Krishna's flute and slid down the statue to rest on the pedestal.

"Hai Ram," he muttered, and sank into a comfortable darkness.

When he opened his eyes, he found himself lying on a cot in his bedroom, covered by a light cotton blanket.

GLOSSARY

serene	-	calm
blurred	-	became unclear
blush	-	show shyness

Read the sentences and number them in correct order.

1. He wished to have Gopal with him.
2. Salim felt that it should come from within.
3. He thought he wouldn't be able to finish it.
4. The old man worked tirelessly on the sculpture.
5. He realized that Gopal must learn to carve the finer details.
6. He had a strong wish to finish it in time.
7. Over days, he felt very weak.

Section III

From the workshop, the chipping sound of the chisel reached his ears. He listened. Had his ears deceived him? No, He could hear it again – the strong blow of the hammer on top of the chisel.

Gopal! He was back! Gopal had returned. He would help him. They would finish the statue! He stumbled to his feet, crossed the small room and reached the door.

"Gopal!" He was about to shout when the words froze on his lips. "No!" he wanted to cry out " Stop! Stop the work!"

But he couldn't move. Shock had immobilised him. He stood staring at the back of the young stone carver working on the face of the statue, on the eyebrows, arching over a pair of fine eyes.

But it wasn't his son sitting cross-legged before the biggest statue he had ever carved. It was Salim, his servant.

The old man watched stunned. The first wave of shock, fear and anger passed to give way to a feeling of great relief and happiness.

"Hai Ram," the old man whispered "Hai Ram" and tottered over to the boy. Dropping his hand on his shoulder he said softly, " Salim."

The startled boy turned and looked up at his master. He rose to his feet clumsily, the hammer and chisel still in his hands.

"Salim," the old man searched for words. "I...I...I...only wanted to help," whispered the boy, "I...I'll learn, if you teach me Masterjee! I have practised secretly for almost two years in the quarry".

"Please tell me! For many years, I wanted to become a sculptor like you yet I fought the feeling. But it proved too strong. I know there is nothing in this world I would like to do more, there is nothing in life that I could do better. I want to become a stonecarver. Will you please teach me, Masterjee?"

The old man pulled the boy's head against his shoulder and whispered, "There's nothing I can teach you my son beta. Go ahead. You have it in your hands and in your heart. I know you will be one of the country's finest stonecarvers."

Where the voice of the wind calls our wandering feet,
Through echoing forest and echoing street,
With lutes in our hands ever-singing we roam,
All men are our kindred, the world is our home.

Our lays are of cities whose lustre is shed,
The laughter and beauty of women long dead;
The sword of old battles, the crown of old kings,
And happy and simple and sorrowful things.

What hope shall we gather, what dreams shall we sow?
Where the wind calls our wandering footsteps we go.
No love bids us tarry, no joy bids us wait:
The voice of the wind is the voice of our fate.

Patachitra

Naya is a quaint little village in West Bengal's Midnapore district. However, it is not an ordinary village. Around 250 patuas or chitrakaars or artists live there. These folk artists are painters, lyricists, singers and performers all rolled into one. They practise an ancient folk art called Pata Chitra. This is a type of storytelling using painted scrolls. The scrolls have stories painted on them and the artists sing the story as they unroll the scroll. This art has been practised since the 13th century.

Traditionally, such story tellers took their painted scrolls from village to village. In every village they unrolled the scrolls frame by frame and sang pater gaan or the story songs. In return for their performance, the villagers gave them rice, vegetables and money. Their stories included mythological stories and tribal folklore. Nowadays the artists sing of social messages and contemporary events as well.

Over time, however, people lost interest in this art form and there were few artists and fewer listeners. To keep their art alive in the modern world, the patuas adapted their skills and themes to the times. An innovative step, they took to do this was to establish a patachitra village at Naya. Slowly, the efforts to revive their artistic heritage started paying off. Today, the patachitra art is flourishing again in the village, with village youngsters taking up the traditional art form as a passion and profession.

A traditional pata was painted on a canvas made of jute fibre. Now, it is made by stitching together sheets of commercial poster paper. The colours come from plants such as marigold, indigo, teak leaves, saffron and turmeric. They also use lamp black. The colours are mixed in coconut shells with the sap of the bel tree (wood apple) which acts as a glue. After finishing, a thin cotton cloth is glued to the back of the painting so that it will last long. Next, the completed scrolls are dried in the sun before they are stored in rolled up bundles.

Today the patuas make rectangular and square-shaped paintings of different sizes. Social messages like conservation of trees, female infanticide, child-trafficking and AIDS awareness figure in their paintings. They also paint images of traditional subjects, such as a cat eating a lobster or fish, tigers, rows of cows or white owls. The patuas today do not make too many long story scrolls. A few of them still sing their self-composed songs but only on demand.

The patachitra art tradition was traditionally passed down from father to son but today many patua women have also taken up the craft. Under an initiative 'Art for Livelihood', some of these women are leading local development.

Patachitra

Since 2010, an annual three-day festival Pot Maya has been held to celebrate the success of the local artists. Held in November every year, the festival exhibits modern paintings as well as scrolls dating back hundreds of years. At this time, the villagers paint the mud walls of their houses with colourful patachitra motifs and hang scrolls on ropes in the courtyards. They also clean up the surroundings and decorate the entire village with flowers to get ready for visitors. As there are no hotels in the village, the visitors stay in tents.

A display at the Pot Maya festival

During the festival, the quiet hamlet is transformed into a vibrant cultural hub where visitors can learn about the craft of patachitra. Several workshops are held, stories are told, and different types of pata artwork are displayed for sale. Musical and dance performances by well-known artists start in the evening and go on well into the night. The patuas hold demonstrations on natural colour extraction from sources.

Watching a patua singing gently as he or she unfurls the scrolls is an unforgettable experience. The play of light and shadow from the oil lamps on the soft colours and delicate imagery of the paintings is magical. If you are interested in traditional art and crafts, do visit this unique village. It will be a delightful experience in a beautiful rural setting.

Listening Passages

Unit 1

There is a very famous quote by Hellen Keller, "Life is either a daring adventure or nothing." Adventure trips are all about making memories, gaining more knowledge, learning new things about the surroundings and about one's own self and making lots of great stories. Going for an adventure camp is the best way to get all of these as it forces one to get out of their ordinary lives and try new things.

Adventure camp basically means spending the nights in tents and doing various activities at the camp-site. There are many activities included in camping to make it more exciting and interesting. Some of these are mentioned below:

Water Activities: If your camp site is near a water body then one can do aqua zorbing, water skiing, fishing, swimming, playing water volleyball and other such fun games.

Bonfire: This can be done during winter camping. Campers are made to sit surrounding the bonfire and talk about their stories or perform some acts, such as playing some instrument or singing songs.

Rock Climbing: This activity is meant to provide both physical and mental challenges to the climbers and help them in learning new skills.

Mountain biking: Just a few scratches and the trip can be memorable with new experience of driving bicycles on forest roads.

Unit 2

Madhubani painting or Mithila paintings from the Mithila region of Bihar were originally done on walls during festivals and other such occasions. The artists like Jagdamba Devi and late Mahasundari Devi are responsible in getting it international recognition. Madhubani paintings find a pride of place in our homes today. One can see the tourists flocking to the Madhubani stalls in craft bazaars like the Dilli Haat. It needed educated and ethnically aware people to bring this aspect of our culture on the international scene and make the younger generations take pride in them so that they voluntarily made a studied choice of them as career options.
